1. INTRODUCTION/HINTS ON USE OF THE SITE

Introduction

AIO is a continuously evolving work in progress. As of 27 January 2020 there were 1783 inscriptions on AIO:

<https://www.atticinscriptions.com/browse/bysource/>

supported by eleven AIO Papers:

<https://www.atticinscriptions.com/papers/>

nine volumes of Attic Inscriptions in UK Collections (AIUK):

<https://www.atticinscriptions.com/papers/aiuk/>

and eight videos on the AIO YouTube channel:

<https://www.youtube.com/channel/UCoavdbYcrROujQD7qITwWMQ>

This short guide is designed to help you make the most of these materials, by means of some general “Frequently Asked Questions”, followed by a list of key inscriptions relevant to specific topics.

Q1. Where can I find a general introduction to Attic inscriptions and AIO?

A1. There is as yet no general introduction to Attic inscriptions on AIO. However, there is an introduction entitled, “Attic Epigraphy”, from the forthcoming Oxford Handbook to Greek Epigraphy (ed. N. Papazarkadas), available at <https://cardiff.academia.edu/StephenLambert>.

A video of a lecture discussing the rationale and purpose of AIO, delivered at the British School at Athens in March 2018, is available on the BSA YouTube channel: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=gfvDQjqbwk&feature=youtu.be>

Q2. How do I find the inscription I am looking for?

A2. There are two main ways, using the “Browse” and “Search” functions, highlighted in red on the left of the Home Page: <https://www.atticinscriptions.com>

If you are looking for a specific inscription to which you have a reference, say ML 14, click on “Browse”, scroll down to “ML” and click on it: <https://www.atticinscriptions.com/browse/bysource/ML/>

In the list that then appears click on ML 14 and you will find there a translation of that inscription, with key data about the inscription and explanatory notes in the right-hand column (you will need to scroll down to find the notes):

<https://www.atticinscriptions.com/inscription/ML/14>

If you want to see a Greek text of the inscription click on the rubric “Greek text” in the upper right corner of the screen. Note: AIO usually supplies its own Greek texts only for inscriptions in UK Collections or where an up-to-date Greek text is not available in open access online elsewhere. For most inscriptions AIO links to a Greek text available on another site, such as PHI or IG online. E.g. for a Greek text of <https://www.atticinscriptions.com/inscription/IGII31/292> click on the rubrics “PHI” or “IG Online” upper right.

For an example of a Greek text on AIO for an inscription in a UK Collection see <https://www.atticinscriptions.com/inscription/AIUK3/1>

For an example of a Greek text supplied because no up-to-date text is available online in open access elsewhere <https://www.atticinscriptions.com/inscription/Rationes/stele-1> (Where the Greek text translated on AIO does not correspond to a text available anywhere else at all, including in hard copy, the inscription is designated by an AIO number)

You can also find inscriptions by Date, Findspot, Inscription Type, Monument Type, Original Location, Present Location and Publication Date on AIO. Simply click the relevant category in the upper right corner of the browse page:

<https://www.atticinscriptions.com/browse/bysource/>

<https://www.atticinscriptions.com/browse/bydate/>

<https://www.atticinscriptions.com/browse/byfindspot/>

<https://www.atticinscriptions.com/browse/byinscriptiontype/>

<https://www.atticinscriptions.com/browse/bymonumenttype/>

<https://www.atticinscriptions.com/browse/byoriginallocation/>

<https://www.atticinscriptions.com/browse/bycollection/>

<https://www.atticinscriptions.com/browse/bypublicationdate/>

Alternatively, you can search for specific (English) words. Click on the rubric “Search” to the left of the home page and you will reach the following screen:

<https://www.atticinscriptions.com/search/>

Enter the search term in the box to the right and click on “Search” below, or for more complex searches click on “Advanced Search”:

<https://www.atticinscriptions.com/search/advanced/>

Q3. What if my reference is out-of-date?

A3. If you click on an out-of-date reference, you will always be lead to an up-to-date translation. E.g. “ML 14” will lead you not to the text of that inscription as contained in Meiggs and Lewis’ outdated collection, but to an up-to-date text and translation: <https://www.atticinscriptions.com/inscription/ML/14>

Q4. How do I know how up-to-date the translation on AIO is?

A4. Under the notes at the bottom of the right side bar the date a translation was added to AIO is given and the date it was updated. Thus, for example, the translation, <https://www.atticinscriptions.com/inscription/IGI3/84> was added 29 Jul 2014 and last updated on 27 Dec 2019.

Q5. What if I spot a mistake or have a question?

A5. Under the dates added and updated (see Q4) is a feedback button.

Q6. Who is responsible for the translation and notes on AIO?

A6. The name of the translator or translators is given in the right side bar for each translation. Normally the same individual(s) are responsible for the notes (where this is not the case this is made clear, e.g. by including the initials of the person responsible for a note at the end of the note). Stephen Lambert is overall editor, and translations and notes (and all AIO and AIUK Papers) are also scrutinised by members of AIO’s Advisory Board (listed at <https://www.atticinscriptions.com/about/> under AIO People). We aim to make our translations and notes as accurate as possible, but inevitably sometimes mistakes creep in, and we are very grateful to readers for pointing these out (<https://www.atticinscriptions.com/contact/>).

Q7. What about photographs of the inscriptions?

A7. We are limited in the photographs we can install directly on AIO by copyright, but where photographs of an inscription (or of a drawing or squeeze or other information) are available online on other sites we link to them. E.g. AIO links to 5 images of <https://www.atticinscriptions.com/inscription/IGI3/4> on three different sites (links in right side bar under names of translators)

For inscriptions discovered in the excavations of the Athenian Agora there is a particularly rich body of material available on the Agora Excavations website. See e.g. <https://www.atticinscriptions.com/inscription/IGII31/1334>

In addition AIO has begun posting its own images directly onto the site, mainly of inscriptions in UK collections, e.g. <https://www.atticinscriptions.com/inscription/IGII2/450> (links in right side bar under names of translators)

Q8. What if an inscription is not on AIO?

A8. Though a good proportion of the most commonly cited inscriptions are now on AIO, we are still working to expand coverage. Typically new material is released ca. four times a year (announced in “AIO Updates” in right side bar of homepage: <https://www.atticinscriptions.com>)

2. ATHENIAN EMPIRE AND PELOPONNESIAN WAR
